

Two Deserts

Itinerary:

Day 1: Almuñécar to Sierra Nevada (185 km)

8:00 AM: Meeting and introductory briefing in Almuñécar. We'll review the equipment and adapt the bikes to your liking. Departure from the coast with a winding gravel track before ascending to Sierra Nevada. The morning combines a pleasant ascent with the first off-road sections through forest trails. Panoramic lunch at a high viewpoint (light picnic included).

In the afternoon, we explore varied tracks adapted to the group's level, always with the attention of our guide. At sunset, we arrive at a cosy mountain accommodation (Hotel El Guerra, 1,600 m) where an abundant homemade dinner awaits us. Relax under a starry night sky. (155 km – 70% off-road)

Day 2: Sierra Nevada – Gorafe Desert (210 km)

Today, we explore the mountain passes: we ride tracks that cross passes with impressive views, and descend towards the fascinating Gorafe Desert. Stop for a panoramic lunch at the Ruta del Sur Restaurant, then continue the adventure, contemplating the badlands with an expedition through the unique landscapes of Gorafe – red earth canyons and eroded ravines.

At the end of the day, a well-deserved rest: we arrive at a cave-hotel in Baza with natural hot springs to relax the muscles. A different night sleeping in a cave equipped with all the comforts. (210 km – 80% off-road)

Day 3: Baza – Tabernas Desert – Almería (195 km)

The day begins with the route to Calar Alto and its surroundings. We explore picturesque paths between canyons and wooded valleys – a wonderful contrast that lasts a couple of hours, as after the Gorafe desert of the previous day, today we visit the impressive Tabernas desert, to then connect with a dry riverbed that will take us to our destination in the Cabo de Gata natural park, where the comfortable Hotel Barceló Cabo de Gata awaits us in the middle of a natural park of paradisiacal beaches. (195 km – 60% off-road)

Day 4: Almería – Almuñécar (180 km)

Last day, we start fresh after a good breakfast. We take a scenic route through the foothills of the Sierra Nevada National Park, with its charming mountain villages and a paradise of curves, ascents and descents that will delight adventure motorcycle enthusiasts.

We continue among ancient olive trees and almond trees in bloom (depending on the season), then tackle a beautiful mountain road that descends towards the coast with views of the sea. Arrival in Almuñécar approximately at 5:30 PM. (160 km – 70% off-road)
